It's tryst with destiny
Excruciating yet inevitable
To dive into the wreck
And clear the rubble:
Painful and exhausting...for
It is re-vision.

Mortals worked on
The decision ordained by Him,
Nevertheless necessitated by law
What's at stake?
She never panicked...for
It is re-vision.

New path predetermined
By nature, has given her breath
Nothing to demoralize
Just another take
With a little sting...for
It is re-vision.

The twinkle in her eyes
Widening at her inquisitive stars
She awaited and messaged
One more day
Hold on with courage...for
It is re-vision.

Envisaging life full of hope
She embraced them
And whispered
No more fears and tears
In all our endeavors...for
It is the end of re-vision.
